Bits and Pieces

FROM YOUR QUALITY COUNCIL

JOHNNY PARKER has created a TEAMSpirit Web Page for Shelton State. If you haven't visited the online page, you should do so. It's extremely interesting and innovative.
Johnny deserves many kudos for his work.

During the last meeting of the Quality Council, Rick Rogers talked about the beautification efforts currently taking place on the college grounds, thanks to an ISTE grant.
Fencing at the front of the college will extend past the Child Development Center. When the next ISTE grant goes into effect August 16, the landscaping on Mae Hinton Boulevard will begin. There will also now be brick signs built on Highway 69. An Additional $200,000 will be spent for the front of the campus and the Fire College drive. Rogers also announced that the telephone registration system will be operational by Spring Semester 2000.

Remember, we all need to support the Quality Movement at Shelton State.

MEET THE NEW CHALLENGE 21 DIRECTOR

LISA Algiers, the executive director for Challenge 21 may be your neighbor if your office or classroom is located on the second floor of Shelton's Martin Campus. Lisa and the Challenge 21 office is open and operational in the Tommy Hester Conference Room, and she invites Shelton's faculty and staff to stop by.

The purpose of Challenge 21 is to bring together various organizations that are interested in common issues and concerns. Lisa has been busy working with various agencies and individuals to achieve the vision for Tuscaloosa that was established by the citizens of Tuscaloosa several years ago.

Challenge 21 is currently beginning several new initiatives in the areas of education, economic development, leadership, government, infrastructure and quality of life.

Lisa has been active in the community with various community organizations, such as the Preservation Society, before taking the position with Challenge 21. Prior to accepting this new position, Lisa worked for the City of Tuscaloosa. She says she never thought she would leave her position with the city; however, she says she is really enjoying the new challenges connected with Challenge 21.
